Certified Angus Beef® brand. What's the story?

In virtually all areas of business, a new, improved model comes along and surpasses the competition. In the beef industry, that leader is the Certified Angus Beef® product. Beef so superior it has surpassed scrupulous evaluations for quality, and is regarded as the best beef available today. Only eight percent of beef meet the standards with the USDA Meat Grading Service to qualify for the Certified Angus Beef® stamp.

Before there were specific brands, in 1976 the USDA Grading Service had lowered and broadened its grading standards, resulting in a greater variation in beef quality. It was in 1978 that the American Angus Association, consisting of America's 28,000 cattle ranchers, created the Certified Angus Beef® program to ensure that this new "brand" would consistently maintain their beef's quality for each cut sold. Their success has proven the need for this, as the Certified Angus Beef® brand was the first, and is still the highest quality beef available.

Pine Mountain Grill, in fact, is one the current 6,000 plus licensed restaurants across the United States that serve exclusively the Certified Angus Beef® product. The classic beef taste and consistent tenderness bring rave reviews and more importantly, repeat customers.
